Create. inspire. Lead.

Founded 36 years ago, The AAA School of Advertising has been training the best in the advertising, communication, and marketing industry. AAA's curriculum is designed in collaboration with leading industry professionals, ensuring that students are equipped with the skills and knowledge required to succeed in the industry. Our collaboration with respected bodies such as the International Advertising Association and the Marketing Association of South Africa gives our students legitimacy within the industry beyond the qualification as well as the opportunity to gain practical experience through internships, industry briefs, and real-world projects.

The hands-on experience ensures that graduates are ready to hit the ground running when they enter the workplace.

AAA's close ties to the advertising, communication and marketing industry mean that students have access to a network of industry professionals, including guest lectures, mentorship programmes, and networking events.

This provides them with valuable connections to secure employment and advance their careers.

AAA overview

AAA School of Advertising was established in 1990 by the AAA (Association of Advertising Agencies), the professional body of the advertising industry, which is now known as the Association for Communication and Advertising (ACA).

The AAA School of Advertising was the official higher education institution for the South African advertising industry for over 36 years, with campuses in Johannesburg and Cape Town.

Teaching approach

AAA's approach to teaching focuses on the fundamentals of design, advertising and marketing, while embracing the new technologies and innovations (e.g. digital and mobile media). Students can look forward to working on real briefs found within agencies, providing the much-needed experience of putting theory into practice. Full-time final year students also participate in a four-week internship (Work Integrated Learning) programme to get a first-hand taste of the advertising world.

Why AAA?

Whether you're a student who is passionate about the economy, market trends and cultures that influence them. Whether you love languages and have a passion for Art and Drawing, or whether you're looking to transform your interest in the landscape of business including entrepreneurship, brands, and research about human buying-behaviour – AAA has the right programme tailor-made for you to #ShapeTheWorld – all of which are accredited by the International Advertising Association (IAA), making us the only institution in Africa with this accreditation. AAA lecturers are respected academics and industry professionals, which results in all students receiving knowledge that is relevant for today's marketing, advertising and design environment. Furthermore, guest speakers and hands-on participation by our teaching experts provides students with the opportunity to interact with, and market themselves among leaders and influential members within the advertising industry. This priceless opportunity that is made available to all AAA students, more often than not, leads to final year students receiving employment offers even before they write their final exams, or while serving their mandatory internships.

At AAA, we encourage creative exploration throughout our learning process, and our best student work is entered for both local and international awards every year.

POSTGRADUATE STUDIES

BACHELOR OF ARTS HONOURS IN DIGITAL MARKETING (NQF LEVEL 8)

The digital marketing industry continues to grow at a rapid rate because of the proliferation of ICTs. With roughly 1.3 billion businesses in South Africa, and with the digital divide narrowing down as the country aligns itself with the global village, there are myriads of corporates, agencies, entrepreneurs and individuals who are in dire need of digital upskilling to empower themselves and future-proof their careers. Our vision is to respond to the constantly evolving social and management needs within the business sector, therefore addressing the triple challenges of unemployment, poverty, and inequality in society.

Until recently, the institution had delivered mostly contact and distance learning undergraduate programmes, along with the addition of short courses. This in effect denied access and opportunity to many prospective students who would not only have liked to continue their studies at the AAA School of Advertising, but also find the appropriate post-graduate qualification, and those who could not study full-time, or lived far away from the campuses. This distance learning honours degree will develop industry-ready students who can be productively employed in a dynamic profession. Furthermore, they can engage in self-employment opportunities as entrepreneurs or specialists in their elective fields.

The study of a digital marketing degree at the postgraduate level is more than just the attainment of an academic qualification. It provides a contemporary offering to grow and develop as an individual and as a marketing professional, equipping students with innovative and accountable brand-building strategies. This course is carefully curated to gain traction in a larger target market, to not only provide niche market skills and knowledge but also that it can be done at a distance without losing the insight and practical experience full and part-time courses offer. In addition to providing fundamental discipline-specific knowledge, this programme will stimulate independent critical thinking skills, problem-solving motives, self-study and research-driven objectives.

The successful graduates will contribute significantly to alleviate shortages experienced in the marketing and communication industry in South Africa, as presented in the SETA Scarce and Critical Skills Guide. Mastering the competencies associated with digital marketing, brand building, brand management, research methodology, and research report writing. Competencies one needs to fully succeed within the world of advertising, marketing and communications today.

We wish you the best of luck on this new academic journey and hope to see you thriving in the world of digital marketing soon!

NQF LEVEL 8

MIN CREDITS: 120

Entry Requirements:

The minimum entry requirements set out for degree studies as legislated by the Department of Education & Training do not guarantee an applicant admission to the BA Hons Digital Marketing degree in any programme at the AAA School of Advertising. The applicants must have completed an undergraduate qualification on NQF level 7.

Integrated assessment:

Assessments should be carried out following the institution's Assessment Policy, which says that competency assessment is an important aspect of the program. Assessment occurs throughout the qualification as a means of tracking learning progress, identifying areas for remedial intervention, and directing individual learners toward additional study. Summative evaluation is used to assess competence in terms of accomplishing all outcomes at the end of each module and for the entire qualification.

At the fundamental, intermediate, and advanced levels, a combination of appropriate formative and summative evaluation approaches is used. Tests, examinations, and research projects are examples of these. Additionally, learners' learning progress will be assessed through presentations made during workshops. Since the execution of research-based assessments necessitates the integration of theory and the application of knowledge and skills, assessment practice will be undertaken similarly as much as practicable. This means that evaluation methods will be appropriate for evaluating mastery of knowledge as well as the ability to apply knowledge, either separately or in combination.

Each module will have formative and summative assessments. The formative assessments will be weighted 60% and the summative assessment 40%. To be credited for a module, the student will need to attain an average of 50%. For the student to attempt the summative assessment, the student will need to obtain a minimum of 40% for the combined formative assessments throughout the semester.

Faculty of Creative Brand Communication

The council on Higher Education has identified that Design and Creative Arts programmes are offered by 35% of accredited higher education institutions in South Africa.

Creative Brand Communication

Career options are changing with increased digital integration, however, key careers include:

1. Art Director

Art Directors are directly involved in the creation of advertisements. Working in a team together with Copywriters, you will learn about the particular product and conceptualise the campaign or commercial. Your specialised skills will come into play when executing the advertisements, as Art Directors are responsible for visual elements. Aspects such as the choice of imagery, layout and typography are of great importance. When working on a television spot, the drawing up of a storyboard becomes your challenge and you will play a crucial role in the final execution and production of the advertisements. To perform this job function you need to be a lateral thinker, an artist and a visualiser. Art Directors use their expertise in marketing and advertising in order to communicate their ideas in all forms of media, whether it is digital, electronic, ambient or print.

2. Graphic Designer

Graphic Design is the art of communicating visually. A Graphic Designer uses a toolkit of graphic elements, visuals, type and text, symbols, colour and texture to create a distinctive design that communicates information in an original and memorable way. Great design is not just pretty pictures but is relevant to the client's objective, their brand and its audience. The quest is to develop a comprehensive range of skills, both traditional and electronic, in order to bring creative ideas to life that inform, affect and persuade the defined target audience.

3. Copywriter

Copywriters are skilled with words, storytellers, entertainers, wordsmiths and amateur philosophers. Concepts are magically transformed into catchy pay-off lines, witty, gritty and always authentic. Working in a team together with Art Directors or Designers, you will learn about the particular product and conceptualise the campaign or commercial. Copywriters write and review and write again. It helps to be a little crazy, a deep thinker, an observer of life, with a dash of eccentricity and a smidgen of hip. Copywriters write for social media, radio, TV, print media and that latest trendy billboard. Yep, a Copywriter wrote that too. If you find yourself scribbling out ideas with an eyeliner on a serviette in a nightclub, or whispering poetry into your phone at 3am, you may just be a copywriter.

Design is so simple, that's why it's so complicated.

This programme is designed for people who want to pursue an applied, practice and career-oriented qualification, which will enable them to hit the road running when they enter the job market. In addition to having a strong practical component integrated into most theoretical modules, the students will be mentored by both their lecturers as well as industry gurus who provide their services regularly. Moreover, the intensive work-based learning programme in third year is designed so that students get real-life assignments and are exposed to the real world, rather than a simulated environment. Therefore, upon completion of the programme, diploma students are highly work-ready and most will be offered permanent employment, as is the case presently with our degree graduates.

My experience at AAA was amazing. I learnt that creativity doesn't take one path, it is an endless set of paths that you get to create yourself. Our job as designers is to communicate visually, so we must take a step back and remember that although we need to pay the bills and tell story after story, we must also share our own. Creating something you can feel equally passionate about

My AAA WIL internship was a great experience. The WIL module was a good way to prepare us for what was coming with applying for future positions and helped me understand how to tackle a sometimes-daunting aspect of finishing university, finding and ascertaining meaningful employment. Interning at Imbella was a challenge at first due to being out of my comfort zone with my skills and strengths in my position, however, collaboration between our mentors helped me find my feet and they taught me how to navigate and work in a new area of expertise. The experience was very rewarding allowing me to get my first taste of industry and corporate experience, which has excited me to continue my career.

Brent Munro

Class of 2022

BA in Creative Brand Communications

Working at the internship was a bit of an eye opener. I've learned many things in the process industry. Compared to college, where you're vaguely taught to work with brands, in the actual industry you have to be very diligent and meticulous when it comes to capturing a brand image. Also, compared to working in college, where your kind of be more relaxed with the work you make and be content with getting up to 70% for your work, working in the actual industry you have to pump out work that would get a 90% in college and do it faster. Overall, it was very insightful working for an actual brand and has taught me many things. WIL did help me in a few scenarios. I was asked some of the exact same questions that we were asked in WIL such as 'where do you see yourself in 5 years?', 'what do you think of the company?' etc. so learning those beforehand helped me out a lot.

Hannah Fuller

Class of 2022

BA in Marketing Communications

My internship experience at Imbella was an overall insightful and positive one. AAA placed me and it exposed me to an array of talented minds in the industry, who inspired me and my goals for the future. Managing the go to market retail location strategy was something I felt might be out of my depth, but the work I completed at AAA over my three years came in very useful. The presentation skills gained in Campaign Activations helped me stand out to my mentors and solidified my confidence. The support and guidance from AAA over the three-year degree made sure I was more than capable to complete any task given to me.

Iman Sydow

Class of 2022

I started my WIL experience in October with the help of AAA, I was placed at Imbella. Before I started the internship, I was nervous at first and on the first day felt a bit out of place as the rest of the team was experiencing in their workplace. As the days went by, I started finding my place in the company and showcasing my strengths and abilities. I was briefed with tasks I have never done before and it gave me a chance to learn new parts of marketing in a span of a month. The overall experience was amazing and the environment I was working in showed me the exact kind of company I see myself in.

Hloni Sepanya

Class of 2022

BA in Creative Brand Communications

Junior Art Director at Accenture Song

Upon reflection, my internship at Duke Group was incredibly challenging but not for reasons you would expect. I was selected to intern amongst the most talented and revered students in advertising. What I experienced was intensive, competitive environment and in that way, I came out a more agile and fierce Art Director. Being at Duke challenged my thinking, my process and how I view myself. I feel as though I can walk with my head held higher and that I am even more qualified than I was before entering those doors. AAA taught me to dream and action those dreams, Duke taught me how to be a giant and take up even more space – creatively and personally. I enjoyed my time and found the experience to be valuable.

Step 1

International Students who have not obtained a secondary school qualification from South Africa, can apply for a first degree at a AAA which is a registered and accredited Private Higher Education Institution. A prospective international student's application for a first degree must have a certificate of exemption which they should obtain from Universities South Africa before they apply at AAA. A certificate of exemption provided by the Matriculation Board is an endorsement of the prospective foreign student's secondary school qualification which in most cases demonstrates the equivalence and/or suitability to the South African National Senior Certificate.

The online application process entails:

- Access the website using this QR Code

- Continue to the online application portal by clicking on the link provide

- Follow the steps to apply for a certificate of exemption.
- Step A: You will be required to complete an online assessment
- Step B: Pay a non-refundable exemption fee of R700 (as at the Academic year 2023) paid to Universities South Africa bank account
- Step C: Get certified copies of all documents
- Step D: Complete the Application Form (Downloadable M30 from the site)

Step 2

All international students are required to pay 50% deposit towards their desired qualification. A proof of payment must be presented to the institution for a letter of acceptance to be issued to the student that they will use to apply for a study visa.

Step 3

A South African study visa (formerly known as a study permit) allows a foreign national to reside in the Republic whilst studying at a South African institution of primary, secondary or tertiary education. Study visas can cover a range of educational disciplines and even include practical training as well as internships pertaining to the field of study in some cases.

Qualifying for a Study visa

To study at AAA School of Advertising, the applicant must be accepted (or provisionally accepted). Acceptance is proven by way of a letter of acceptance on the AAA School of Advertising letterhead.

AAA School of Advertising is held strictly liable for the study visa holder's compliance with the Immigration Act. The following forms part of the AAA School of Advertising's responsibilities towards the Department of Home Affairs:

- We must confirm that the student's registration has been confirmed within 60 days after the closing date for registrations;
- We must notify the Department of Home Affairs within 7 days if the student fails to register by the closing date for registrations;
- We must notify the Department of Home Affairs immediately if the student is de-registered or expelled; and
- We must notify the Department of Home Affairs if the student completes his or her studies or wishes to extend the period of study at the institution.

The applicant must prove that they have access to the funds necessary to sustain them for the duration of the course while studying in South Africa. No official financial requirements have been set for study visas, but the Department of Home Affairs have adopted a policy whereby the applicant must show access to R3 000 per month for the duration of studies. If the course for which the applicant is enrolled is for a year, then the applicant must show

R3 000 x 12 = R36 000.

The applicant must be covered by a South African medical aid for the duration of the studies. Some high commissions abroad will accept foreign medical aid and travel insurance policies in lieu of South African medical aid, but this is the exception rather than the rule. The duration of the visa is limited by the duration of the degree, diploma or certificate concerned. Study visa renewal applications must be made at least 60 days prior to the visa expiry date. The processing time for a study visa application submitted in South Africa is between 4 and 8 weeks.

Assessment rules

Continuous assessments

It is the policy of the institution that there shall be continuous assessments for programmes. The marks awarded in these shall be made part of the final mark and such details shall be provided to the student when required. The minimum pass mark per module is 50%.

A supplementary examination is offered to students who:

- Obtain a final mark of 40-47%, however, the supplementary examination mark will be capped at 50%
- Students who missed exams due to illness/family bereavement/accident or other acceptable causes must supply supporting documentation to be issued for verification purposes by the Department Heads and the Dean.

Progressing to the next year of study

Students may successfully progress to the next year of study if they pass all modules with 50%. A student is not allowed to fail more than 50% of the semester and is only allowed to carry a maximum of two modules into the next year. If a prerequisite module/s were failed, the student is not allowed to continue with the follow-up module for that particular module. For example, if Graphic Design 511 was failed, the student may not continue with Graphic Design 512.

Rules for carrying modules

- Students carrying modules from one semester to the next are compelled to satisfy the pass requirements before sitting for the final examinations in the new semester, e.g. Marketing Management 511 must be passed to attempt Marketing Management 512.
- No student will be allowed to carry more than two modules at any given time in any semester without the consent of the Faculty Head.

Assessment

Students are allowed to appeal against an assessment mark, be it formative or summative. The student shall have the right of appeal against any decision regarding guilt or penalty, and may appeal in writing to the Registrar within ten working days of the receipt of notification of the penalty. Students may continue their courses of study pending the outcome of appeals, but will be required to amend or withdraw their enrolment if appeals are denied.
